THE FALL OF PARIS.

The Extensive Preparations Now Being Made for the Opening.

The signs are in the air!

The ring of the hammer and ceaseless buzz of the saw heard on the bluff are sure indications that the initial steps in the great fall display have been taken.

The illuminated pictures of Emperor William and his staff, now exhibited at all convenient points throughout the city and country announces that October 1 will witness the formal opening of the open air spectacles.

The proprietors, Messrs. Leubrie & Gallois, and the gentlemen associated with them, have been tireless in their efforts and the richest results await their labors.

These two gentlemen are just home from New York, where contracts have been closed for uniforms, fixtures, other accessories needed in producing the "Fall of Paris" with the most complete effects.

The artist is busy on the scenes effects, and his enthusiasm over the subject is guaranteed that the work will be well done.

An Appeal man was fortunate enough to gain some inside pointers as to the extensive preparations which are being made and which show the people that this is an enterprise of no little moment.

The immense stage now building will be 400 feet long and 250 deep, requiring not less than 27,000 feet of lumber.

When the stage setting is in place the scenery will comprise 2,700 feet of artistic work done at an enormous cost. The large fence surrounding the grounds and the grand stand will require 80,000 feet of lumber.

All of these details will give some idea of the magnitude of the work undertaken. Over 400 people will take part in the drama, the action of which is spirited and striking.

The costumes ordered for the Imperial staff are handsome in design and material, and the wearers will be proud to be seen arrayed therein. It has been almost decided that the principal actors will be selected for their resemblance to the imperial commanders.

All the committees have been appointed, and are now arranging all the details for the opening night.

The members of the Sphinx, with marked generosity propose to donate the fifteen floats used in the late carnival to any committee who will undertake to organize a trade procession on the opening of the display.

This is a fine opportunity to utilize ready made material and have an industrial exhibit which will show to the thousands of visitors that we are not behind in that line. The offer should be taken advantage of at once, and steps taken in the right direction.

The libretto, of which advance sheets have been furnished The Appeal, furnishes a spirited history of the inception and progress of the Franco-German war. It is as concise as possible to make it and maintains the salient points of an important era. It is the authorship of the general secretary, Lou Leuthier, and reflects great credit on his historical accuracy and gift of vivid expression.

The libretto will be on sale in a few days, and no one who witnesses the spectacle should fail to read it.

MISS MAUD JEFFRIES.

Illness Compels Her Temporary Retirement from the Stage.

The promising dramatic career of Miss Maud Jeffries threatens to be abruptly terminated by an affection of the heart, which makes her temporary retirement from a life of excitement imperative. It will be remembered that she left here for New York a few weeks ago to join the Evans company and begin rehearsals in "Rockwood," which has been rewritten, and placed under the management of E. J. Evans. At the second rehearsal Miss

POLITICAL GOSSIP.

Little Interest Taken in the Tomorrow's Primary Election.

There doesn't seem to be any raging desire on the part of politicians to secure nominations on the Legislative ticket, but all the same there is a vast amount of quiet work going on in certain directions. Among the candidates most favorably spoken of are the Hon. Lucas Clapp and the Hon. Casey Young, both of whom can be nominated without serious opposition. Some of the gentlemen named in the public prints scout the idea resolutely, and insist that business engagements make a legislative career out of the question. Among the latter the most conspicuous are Capt. West, J. Crawford and Col. John R. Godwin, who positively and emphatically decline to permit the use of their names under any circumstances.

Announcement is made by Prof Cannon that he is not a candidate for coroner, and Mr. James F. Hunter desires THE APPEAL to state that he is not a candidate for the Legislature and THE APPEAL does so with pleasure, inasmuch as Mr. Hunter could not well be spared from his present place.

He is a man of high character and his services are greatly missed.
